take place at Syracuse on the 13th inst.:

The preliminaries of this important event are now entire completed, and the Executive Committee of the United Lates Agricultural Society give notice that the trial will commence on Monday, 13th July, on the field selected at Syracuse. The entries of Reapers and Mowers by far exceed those made on any previous occasion, either in this country or in Europe, having already reached the unusual number of eighty machines, and there seems every probability of further additions.

Acceptances have already been received from the following gentlemen of the Board of Judges appointed by the Executive Committee at their late meeting at Albany; John Stanton Gould, Esq. of Hudson, N. Y., Chairman. Messrs. Seth Scammon, Maine; Brooks Shattuck, New Hampshire; Edwin Hammond, Vermont; Sanford Howard, Massachusetts; Stephen H. Smith, Rhode Island; T. S. Gold, Connecticut; B. B. Kirtland, New York; George Hartshorne, New Jersey; John Jones, Delaware; Francis P. Blair, Maryland; Frederick Watts and J. L. Dardington, Pennsylvania; Henry K. Burgwyn, North Carolina; J. T. Worthington, Ohio; Geo Hancock, Kentucky; J. C. Holmes, Michigan; Richard Peters, Georgia; and Mr. Joseph E. Holmes, General Superintendeut, of Newark, Ohio, as a member ex-officio. Others are still to be neard from.

Exhibitors should be on hand some days previous to the trial, so as to provide themselves with teams, get their machines in readiness, and lend such assistance as may be required. They will report themselves on Saturday, 11th, at the office of the Secretary, who will furnish them with programmes and give all requisite directions, and where the Treasurer of the Society will need for organization at the Globe Hotel, on Monday, the 13th of July, at an hour to be announced in handbills. The Vice Presidents and Executive Committee of the Society will report themselves on their arrival at Syracuse, at the President's head-quarters at the Yorkees Honse.

ecutive Committee of the Society will report themselve on their arrival at Syracuse, at the President's head-quar-ters, at the Voorhees House.

A tent will be provided for editors and reporters of the press, and a messenger will be at their disposal to convey letters and dispatches to the postoffice and telegraph lines. The Society have decided to offer their large bronze medal for the best report of the proceedings during the trial.

His Excellency, Gov. King, will be present on the assion, as also distinguished guests from abroad; and the Executive Committee of the New York State Agricultural Society, pursuant to adjournment, will hold their next meeting at Syracuse, simultaneously with the trial.

Favorable arrangements will probably be made for the transportation of machines over the various

The business office of the Society will be located at the Fair Grounds of the Onondaga County Agricultural Society. Contributors, on arriving in town, will be met by the Reception Committee, at the Globe Hotel, and directed to the grounds. The grand opening ceremonies, addresses, and procession of all the implements on exhibition will take place on Tuesday, July 14th, upon the Fair Grounds. The President's headquarters will be at the Voorhees House; Gov. King and the officers of the New York State Agricultural Society at the Syracuse House; the Board of Judges at the Globe and St. Charles Hotels; and the remaining officers and guests

There will be no regular banquet provided on the ground, but a collation will be furnished daily and sent to the field for the officers, judges, and guests. A committee were appointed to receive editors and reporters from abroad. This will be one of the most important exhibitions to the whole agricultural community that has ever taken place. BY REV. T. HEMPSTEAD.

Ah, broken, broken is the golden bowl! The silver cord is severed, And the ethereal dweller Within the wondrous palace, The fine, frail palace of clay, Is launched upon the deep,
The Shadowy and Irremeable Ocean, And tides of the Hereafter.

Searcher of unsounded mysteries. Whither is the gentle spirit flown, Now that the walls are broken down, And the moth and the night-wind have entered? And the moth and the night-wind have en'
What sience and barren desolations
Appal her wanderings,
What wildernesses of green worlds
With crowns of amaranth,
And robes of woven beams shall hail her,
Swinging their rosy censers
In silver-throated triumph?
Early they called her. Early they called her-Went she at the return of flowers And many-songed birds, What time the virgin grass Pierces the dull, brown leaves With transparent, tender spears; With the lily on her brow And the yellow light on her locks. And the yearow ight on her locks, Went she to the City of the Silent, The mighty and marble Capital of Death; Our footsteps fall slower, Our hearts moan like autumn, And rustle like dead leaves, Since she departed O how we loved her! She whose life on earth Was a Sabbath melody, Was as the fall of fountains Sentineled by bending roses, Hemmed by the fringings of May, Gold of odorous clover and bands of pansies, O how we loved her! She whose young eyes rested On the white columns of the Temple, Beautiful, That shines and shines evermore In the nave of the Heavenly Hills. With the music of her steps, And the glory of her brows, Is gone, is gone Unto the pale Metropolis of death!

'The bell, the bell! that howls to the clouds, From a throat of thundering rust, Is roaring and surging and sobbing-Is drenching the thirsty air With billows of iron foam; Dropping its big and brazen tears On the beard of the sorrowing pines Saying fearful is the sleep of sleeps The leaden-lidded slumber of Death, Saying the Angel of the Flowers is flown, To come no more—ne more! No, no! over the Sea of Shadows, Into the golden and Twelve-gated City, The palace of our Lord hath she entered ess: her from the arrow of slander And the dull sickness of the heart The gem-bright streets have taken— Ye that tread the living pearl, Ye that tread the uving pears, Open the Everlasting Gates! Fill the golden air with a paean, The tearless, groanless air of Heaven, And with a diadem crown her, The worthy and beautiful. NEW PRESTON, CONN.

OUR CITIZENS ABROAD .- It has long been known that our fellow-citizens, Messrs. H. D. Newcomb & Co., formed the very life and spirit of the flourishing town of Cannellton, Indiana. They are now engaged in still other improvements looking to the prosperity of that town-building a railroad bridge from the Cavender across to the Sulphur Hill spring, five hundred and eighty feet long, sixty feet high, and eight broad. The tunnel through the Cavender hill will be nine hundred feet in length. Cars loaded in the Sulphur Spring hill will be drawn by small mules across the bridge and through the tunnel, and the coal will be thence taken on the larger cars by gravitation down the present railroad, a mile and a quarter to the river.

There has never been a time when so much coal has been sold at that point as during the past season. Four mines at Hawesville and three at Cannellton have been constantly worked since the opening of navigation in January, and the daily sales of coal must have averaged at least twelve thousand bush- tirely upon the proprietors, as the property was not els, often reaching seventeen thousand, and yet the supply has not kept pace with the demand. New comb & Co. have been regularly getting out five thousand five hundred bushels per diem, and they are now making arrangements to continue their railroad so as to very much increase their means of supply during the next season. Within the next two years this concern will be able to mine more than twelve thousand bushels per day, and they will sell all they can deliver.

HIGH SCHOOL.—The examinations for admission into the Male High School have just terminated .-Fifty-five boys presented themselves for admission; of these, 22 were acceepted, 15 remanded for re-examination next September, and the remainder to be examined again next year. Professor Beach intends establishing a vacation school to be under the immediate charge of Mr. Bettison, for the purpose of aiding those who wish to come forward at the September examination. The school will be taught in the college building, corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets. The results of the examination of the punils who have been for the past year connected with the institution have not vet been overlooked. We shall take pleasure in laving the results before our readers as soon as they are complete.

Reports of very extraordinary atmospherical phenomena are coming to us from all portions of the country. The most fearful whirlwinds, thunderstorms, and hail storms have occurred in all directions. THE CATARACT.-This elegant, venerable, and serviceable machine, the property of the Relief Fire Company, has just been rebuilt by Messrs. Keating & Johnson. We had the pleasure of examining it yesterday at their establishment, opposite the jail. It is a very powerful engine, and now that it has been thoroughly refitted, will in the hands of its gallant members prove a most valuable adjunct to the fire department.

HOMICIDE.-We learn from the Tuskegee (Ala.) Republican, of the 25th ult., that on Friday last a Mr. Walker, overseer for Mr. H. H. PEACHES .- The Columbus (Ga.) Sun notices the receipt from Mr. Moses of a specimen of his peach crop. PROGRESS .- The Bardstown Gazette gives the following facetious notice of the progress of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad:

In about two weeks the rai road will be completed to New Haven, when a change will be made in our mail arrangements. All direct stage communication between here and Louisville will be cut off.—
The old stage line from here to Louisville—a line which has been daily in motion ever since we can remember—will be st-pped; and when we start to Louisville hereafter we will have to start off in an-other direction. The road to Louisville will be by other direction. The road to Louisville will be by way of New Haven—at least until the completion of the Bardstown and Louisville Branch Railroad.

BROADWAY MILLS. MELS

George Crumbaugh and Madison Henley had some words on Main street, New Albany, Tuesday evening, when Crumbaugh stabbed Henley in the side. The wound is not a dangerous one. Crumbaugh made his escape.

ANOTHER VICTIM. - An old man named Vansickle, who was most shockingly scourged by the Regulaors of Monroe county, Indiana, previous to the Murder of Bingham, and with which the latter is connected, has died in consequence of injuries received at their hands.

HIGH PRICE FOR LAND .- Joseph A. Miller, Esq., of Millersburg, a few days since sold his farm of 250 acres, lying on the pike, two miles this side of Millersburg, to Mitchell Miller, of Nicholas co., for $110 per acre. Mr. Jos. Miller has recently invested largely in Illinois land.

THE EXCITEMENT IN MEMPHIS. - The News gives the following as the substance of a speech made by Able, after the mob had prepared to hang

He began by saying that he was thirty years of age, and had been born and raised in Tennessee, and would defy any person to point out an instance where he had injured any person, until this unfortunate affair with Everson. His language was profane, and he said liquor caused him to do the deed, and he thought a man ought not to be held responsible for a dead done under the influence of liquor. He said a deed done under the influence of liquor. He said the murder was caused by the accidentat discharge of the pistol, and no premeditated scheme on his part to take the life of Everson. He then gave an account of his liabilities, which he said would amount to eight thousand five hundred dollars, and as soon as those were settled by was willing to die as these were settled, he was willing to die.

A voice.—Would you kill the gentlemen to whom you are indebted if they were to dun you?

Able.—No, sir, I'll pledge you my word that I would not!

What did you kill Everson for?

Able.—He insulted my mother, and took her cook

Able.—He insulted my mother, and took her cook out of the kitchen.

He could go no farther, as the rope was around his neck, and the excited populace would not heed his remarks. He was carried to the rope-walk—when his mother rushed in and plead for the life of her son, and succeeded. He was carried back to the jail, but the populace demanded him again, and tried every way to break the door down, but could uot do so. At last all retired.

During the excitement, demands were made that Bolton, who killed Mr. McMillan some weeks since, should also be taken out and hung. This was objected to by many, and singularly enough by some who were vociferous for the execution of Able.—We are happy to state the excitement has subsided, and the law will, in all probability, be permitted to take its course.

Riots are increasing in New York. The Herald has an account of four which occurred on Saturday. In the first melee many of the police were seriously wounded and a man who had been taken prisoner by them rescued. In two of the other riots several persons were cut and stabbed. The most erious one is thus related by the Herald.

Yesterday the members and friends of Washington Lodge (German) No. 19 celebrated their annual pic-nic at Hudson Park.

At about 1½ o'clock a party of Irishmen engaged in factories molested and annoyed the pic-nic party, who, however, tried to avoid them as much as possible, by giving them a wide berth. The Irishmen, not content with drinking beer and other drinks without paying for them, commenced to insult the not content with drinking beer and other drinks without paying for them, commenced to insult the ladies, and made an attack on the bar, which they demolished, and stole from the till, (as is asserted by the barkeeper), $150. This was too much for the Germans, and being fully aroused, they rushed in a body upon the Irishmen and put them to flight. The latter went after reinforcements, and in a very short time returned armed with clubs, knives, and other weapons, and vigorously renewed the attack. The greater part of the Germans had left the ground after the first collision, and those few that were left received very severe treatment.

One of the Irishmen was carried off the place of battle very severely wounded, and three others of

The Philadelphia papers mention the failure of a prominent banking house in that city, but do not give the name.

A letter from New York says:

Three of the largest firms in the trade, two of whom had, at one time, amassed handsome fortunes, have recently been forced to succumb to the pressure of the times. I allude to Sutton & Co., who have since settled with their customers, by paying a small per centage—Bingham & Reynolds and W. C. Annan & Co. The joint liabilities of these firms could not have been much below $600,000 or $800,000.

Several other parties who were pioneers in the California trade, managed to get out of the business within the past eighteen months, just in time to save themselves from insolvency. One of them (James Smith & Son) has just informed me that, during the last year they were in the trade, their losses reached $40,000, but they managed to save something wherewith to "rock gently the cradle of declining life." within the past eighteen months, just in time to

DEATH OF CAPT. DRAYTON .- Capt. Dan'l Drayton. famous as the captain of the schooner Pearl, in the kidnapping expedition of 1848, committed suicide at New Bedford, Mass., on Thursday last, by taking landanum. He had also severed arteries in both legs. The Standard publishes the following obituary notice:

He was convicted and sentenced to be imprisoned for twenty years, upon two indictments. He lay in Washington jail four years and four months, and was pardoned out by President Fillmore, in 1852.

Since his release Capt. Drayton has traveled in the free States, selling his personal narrative, and other anti slavery works. He was a native of New Jersey, born in 1802, was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and leaves a widow and several children.

Sir F. Thesiger moved the insertion of the words "on the true faith of a Christian" as at present used, but after a debate the amendment was rejected by 341 to 201, a result which is generally hailed as a testimony of the spread of liberal sentiments in the country. In reply to a question during the debate, Lord Palmerston said that with the passage of this bill there was nothing to prevent Jews from holding the offices of Lord Chancellor or Prime Minister.

On Tuesday evening, the Marquis of Blandford gave notice that, on the motion for the third reading of the bill, he would move that it be read that day six months. This opposition will of course provefutile.

A SWINDLER RELEASED .- The New Albany

Ledger has the following: Ledger has the following:

In our last it was stated that Taylor, the Franklin Bank forger, had been arrested in New York and taken back to Franklin. On his arrival in that place on Saturday, a meeting of the directors of the Bank was held, when a compromise was effected between the parties—the forger returning the money out of which he swindled the institution, and the bank destroying the evidence of Taylor's guilt and releasing him. This conduct of the bank cannot be too severely condemned. They had it in their power to convict a most accomplished scoundrel, but it appears all they cared for was to get back their money, without caring how many others were their money, without caring how many others were victimized by the rascal.

RUMORS OF BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION AT THE BOSTON CUSTOM HOUSE.—For a few days past there has been considerable excitement at the Bos-ton Custom House, in consequence of rumors that Collector Austin was making an examination into charges preferred to him, that two of the late ap-pointees had obtained their offices by improper means, or in other words by the use of money in faworably disposing toward them a person having influence with the Collector. All facts in the case are not yet known, but it is stated that the Collector has promptly suspended the two officials implicated in this rather questionable, though perhaps not unprecedented transaction in others, if not the Boston Custom House. If the allegations are maintained all parsons connected will proposely to the tained all persons connected will probably be the subjects of sharp disciplinary treatment, in the form of instant dismissal. The individuals suspected held situations in the Inspectors' Department. The sum paid is stated at $200.

Health of Charles Sumner.—The Boston Transcript says that the reports of Mr. Sumner's health received by the Persia are not so favorable as his friends could wish. His chief difficulty appears to be in his spine, as he is easily fatigued by walking, and after having been seated any considerable length of time he moves about when rising like a veteran of eighty years. He is now visiting the rural districts of France. His mind is very active, and his spirits quite cheerful.

MAYOR WOOD DEFEATED - DISASTROUS HAIL-STORM IN VIRGINIA-RAILROAD ACCIDENT.-It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatches that the Court of Appeals of New York has rendered a decision in the case of the police commissioners against Mayor Wood of New York city. The Court decided the law of the late Legislature conferring the power of appointing and managing the police of the city to a board of commissioners constitutional.

A CLEARING HOUSE AT INDIANAPOLIS - Rullrooms. - The Indianapolis Journal, of Wednesday,

The project of establishing a Union Bank, in Indianapolis, in which all the Free Banks will be stockholders, to act as a clearing house for the protection of the issues of the Free Banks, has at last, we learn, been determined upon. A meeting of the free-bankers was held here a few days since, and prefree-bankers was held here a few days since, and preli inary steps taken for the establishment of the clearing house. The Union Bank will act as a protector against brokers by exchanging currency for the Indiana Free Banks when presented. It will be the policy of this arrangement to reduce the rates of exchange, to keep the issues of our banks at home, and resist the heretofore practiced policy of foreign bankers and brokers in reference to our Free Banks. The arrangement cannot be but productive of grood

Banks. The arrangement cannot be but productive of good.

The papers along the line of the proposed Sandusky, Indiana, and Louisville Railroad give the details of meetings and the efforts making to secure stock in the road. The buying of the line from Rushville to Shelbyville, so as to form a link in the road, has been suggested. If this is done the flat bar will be removed, the road regraded and relaid with T rail. The road has not been located. If it should touch at all the points where the people have been acting in reference to it, it will be crooked enough to suit the views of those opposed to the BEE lines.

The Peru and Indianapolis railroad company have been unfortunate in being compelled, by the pres of the times, to make some ruinous sacrifices. road is now in the hands of a receiver for the benefit of the holders of the second mortgage bonds. The road is well situated, doing a good business, and it is unfortunate for the stockholders that it has been impossible for them to retain it.

To the Editors of the Lousville Bulletin: TUBAC, GADSDEN'S PURCHASE

April 24, 1857.
Gentlemen: I have been in this place five months and have met with but three or four newspapers; among them I was much pleased to meet that old oracle of truth the Journal. Though it is not to be wondered at that newspapers never find their way to this country when we take into consideration the numerous trackless plains and mountains they have to traverse to reach here. But we are hoping for better times soon.

Major Steen, of the First dragoons, is posted in this valley with four companies of troops, and corresponds with the Rio Grande monthly. He also speaks of opening a correspondence with the Colorado (Fort Yuma) this fall. The next thing anticipated in the grant Paging a Resiliend pated is the great Pacific Railroad.

You will learn from other sources before this reaches you that Gen. Crabb and his company, who lately went into Sonora for the purpose of revolu-tionizing, were all brutally murdered. A company of twenty-six, which was raised in this place for the purpose of aiding Crabb, narrowly escaped being literally cut to pieces. They encountered the enemy near Cavorca, 300 strong, and cut their way out with the loss of four killed and three wounded. They returned to this place in a most destitute condition, having walked over 150 miles without food other than wild berbs found in the deserts, and but little than wild herbs found in the deserts, and but little great speculation here at present as to the point for the location of the post for the quartering of these troops, but the knowing ones say that they will go into quarters near Yueson, some 40 miles north of this

This is a beautiful valley for farming, were it not land to irrigate rain here at any other season than fall. It is also one of the finest mining regions in the world. It abounds in silver, copper, lead, gold, and iron, silver being most abundant. There is at present, within 15 miles of this place, some fifteen mines being worked successfully, the mine called the Loopery, belonging to Col. James Douglass & Co., probably being the most valuable. The others belong to and are worked by C. D. Postow & Co., which are giving fine yields.

To sum up all that I have to say about this coun-ing fine yields.

To sum up all that I have to say about this country in one word, I would say it is the best country in the world. It is healthy, a good stock country, a good farming country, a good mining country, a good country for speculation, and, after returning once more to old Kentucky, which will be next fall or winter, I shall return again to this place, believing it to be a good country for a broken man.

Yours truly,

P. S.

THE LEE ELOPEMENT. - Mr. James W. Lee. who was charged with deserting his wife, and elop-ing from Petersburg with a young maiden, called at the Whig office, on Saturday, and denied the allegation in the most positive manner. He stated that he had been to Baltimore to purchase goods, and for the first time heard of the elopement, on his arrival here, Saturday.—Rachmend Whog.

The Petersburg Express says: Several dispatches received Saturday evening gave notice of the expected arrival of the runaway seducer, James W. Lee, alias Banton, and his unfortunate paramour, Miss Stewart. An immense crowd immediately repaired to the Richmond depot, fully prepared to meet the scoundrel, and, after giving him a "duck" in the Appomattox, intended to march him through the public streets, and at night give him the benefit of a thorough tarring, feathering, splintering, and burning. When the cars arrived, every door was surrounded. A brother of Miss Stewart's was present, pressing close with his hand upon a well-charged pistol, ready to shoot the villain down on the moment of his appearance.

The passengers in the train became very much excited at the conduct of the "mob," and it was with difficulty that a passage could be made through The Petersburg Express says: Several dispatch.

Finally, Miss Stewart appeared upon the platform, forcing her way through the crowd, the observed of all observers, with veil aside, and moving with the grace and dignity of a queen. When approached by her brother, tears suffused her eyes, and, drawing the veil over her face, he conducted her to a carriage. Lee, it seems, had intended returning with her to Petersburg; and for that purpose had engaged tickets at the Richmond depot. THE TEST OF SPIRITUALISM .- The experiments by which spiritualism, sc-called, are to be tested, commenced at the Albion building, Boston, on Thursday. The Transcript has the following account of the proceedings, obtained from an "invisible" reporter:

The spiritualists formed a "circle" co threen members, including the celebrated Fox girls, Mr. Allen Putnam, of Roxbury, Mr. Robert Carter, late of the Atlas and Traveler, a representative of Judge Edmonds, of New York, Mr. G. A. Redman, and others.

Redman, and ethers.

The "skeptics" present were Professors Pierce, Agassiz, Wyman, Horsford, and Gould and Hon. George Lunt, who represented the Courier, having (according to our correspondent) a check in his pecket for $500, payable to the spirits in case they fairly triumphed in the contest.

It will be seen that the "circle" have the numerical advantage over their opponents by more than two to one. After some "rappings" had been heard, one of the Professors asked how they were produced, and the answer was that the spirits could not account for them.

The Investigation of Spiritualism. — Prior to the commencement of the services at the Melodeon last evening, Dr. Gardner made a short statement in regard to the investigations which have been in progress during the past week on spiritual manifesta-tions. It is known probably to our readers that a committee, consisting of scientific men, who pronounce spiritualism a humbug, and others, have been assembled at different times during the past week, to witness certain manifestations by spiritual mediums, in order to enlighten the public on the subject.

The session of the committee was brought to an abrupt terminrtion about 11 o'clock on Saturday night, and it was on this matter that Dr. Gardner

He stated that when the investigation was commenced it was agreed that nothing should be stated of what transpired until the sessions were concluded, and that as the matter, so far as the committee was concerned, was ended, he felt at liberty to make a few remarks. The statement that appeared last week in the Transcript, on the doings of the mediumns before the committee, Dr. G. pronounced false in all particulars.

in relation to the manifestations during the ses sions, he stated that the raps had been produced, and all the committee had witnessed them, and one gentleman had pledged himself that before the sesgentleman had piedged himself that before the ses-sion concluded he would show how these were pro-duced, but he had not done so. The other manifes-tations it was utterly impossible to produce from the conditions insisted on being imposed by those of the committee who are hostile to the doctrine—they were not within such laws, as spiritualists cousider necessary to produce the required results.

Dr. Gardner said that he, as well as others who were present, and who believed in the spiritual doctrine, were satisfied with the result, as he knew that, with the conditions imposed, nothing satisfactory could be arrived at. Although certain manifestations could not be produced, in consequence of the conditions imposed, before the committee, yet in an adjoining room, where there was no possibility of collections that were produced instantly.

an adjoining room, where there was no postormy or collusion, they were produced instantly. In order to have the matter thoroughly investiga-ted Dr. Gardner proposes, during the present week, to invite a number of our most prominent scientific men and others to witness the manifestations and in-

As there will probably be two statements of the proceedings before the late committee, the Doctor asks a suspension of public opinion until both are published.

The New York Commercial Advertiser, noticing the new edition of "Nothing to Wear," makes the following shameful attack upon a whole class of society. We appeal to every young lady who reads the Bulletin to say if it be not altogether false and unfounded.

It is well known to those who are in turn well known to Stewart, and who stand on his books rated A No. 1, for the length of their bills, that the fitting out a young lady now a days, for a winter season in town, or a summer season at a watering place, assimilates more nearly to preparing a vessel for a voyage around the world than any other analagous undertaking. It even exceeds in importance the latter enterprise, for, to ride the severest gale, in every variety of clime, the most prudent navigator requires but two or three sets of sails, while the reader probably knows, in his own limited circle, re of fair dames who never launch their frail bark on the summer sea without at least two scores of dresses with laces and crinoline to match. It was a delightful trait in the character of Alfred Jingle (in the Pickwick Papers) that while he had forty coats of his own in a packing case coming around by sea, he condescended to travel with his personal luggage in a brown paper parcel, and when happening upon an unexpected merry making, with "nothing to wear," he adapted himself to circumstances and borrowed another man's coat. Miss Flora McFlim-sey, the heiress of this little episode, was made of sterner stuff, and incapable of so monstrous a breach of the conventionalities of society.

How to Avoid Being Personal.—Sheridan Knowles, being advised by Sir E. Bulwer Lytton to read Gibbon's Decline and Fall, in order to get a good plot for a new play he had engaged to write, went, in his usual impulsive manner, and immediately stated to Saunders & Otley's public library. Pring down his subscription for three months, ing down his subscription for three months, he walked away. Being on the eve of going into the country, he did not take any books then, but on his return to London, nearly four months afterward, he called and asked for the work in question. The clerk looked over the names, and said, "Your subscription has expired, sir; I cannot let you have any books until you have paid for another quarter in advance." The wrath of the Irish dramatist was roused, so he soundly rated the clerk, declaring that "Saunders & Otley were a couple of swindlers!" roused, so he soundly rated the clerk, declaring that "Saunders & Otley were a couple of swindlers!" One of the partners hearing this came forward, and reproached Mr. Knowles for his personal insult. Personal, my dear sir," said the wit, "not a bit of it—if you are Mr. Saunders, damn Mr. Otley; if you are Mr. Otley, damn Mr. Saunders; I would not be personal for the world!" The partner smiled at the felicitous retort and put Knowles on the free list.

Mode of Swearing a Jew.—An insolvent in the Insolvent Court of this county, professing to be of the Jewish faith, having presented himself to take the oath prescribed by statute, the counsel of a party interested raised a question as to the form in which it should be taken, and suggested that, according to the Hebrew custom, the party swearing should at the time have his hat on, his left band on his thigh, and his right on the Pentateuch. The insolven himself declared that he considered any form of oath, held sufficient by the courts, as binding; but oath, held sufficient by the courts, as binding; but the learned judge, taking the question into consideration, decided that if he took the oath with his hat on, and his hand upon the Pentateuch, it would be sufficient. And it was accordingly so done

Power of the Sun.—A distinguished chemist in a recent lecture, while showing that all species of moving power have their origin in the rays of the sun, stated that, while the iron tubular railroad bridge over the Menai straits in England, four hundred feet long, bent but half an inch under the heaviest pressure of a train, it will bend an inch and a half from its usual horizontal line when the sun shines upon it for some hours. He stated that Bunker Hill Monument is higher in the evening than in the morning of a sunny day; the little sunbeams enter the pores of the stones like so many wedges lifting it up.

THE SILK MANUFACTURE, &c.—It has been re-cently stated that parties of experience are making arrangements to extend the manufacture of silk in centry stated that parties of experience are making arrangements to extend the manufacture of silk in the United States, under the auspices of the new tariff. It is confidently asserted that the more costly styles of silk dress goods can be produced here at a fair profit. The handloom used by the French weavers might give employment to vast numbers of women in our large cities at more remunerative rates than have heretofore been paid for sewing. It will probably prove a fortunate thing that the introduction of sewing machines is likely to relieve thousands of females who have earned only a scanty subsistence by the needle. In a little time opportunity will no doubt be afforded them to engage in more profitable avocations. Under the lead of proper skill and intelligence, there is no doubt that the production of raw silk and silk manufactured goods might be made profitable, and afford employment to great numbers of people, particularly women and children.

When the manufacture of goods is once estab-

When the manufacture of goods is once estab-lished, we shall no doubt find a full supply of domestic raw silk gradually come up; but a steady demand and sure home market for the raw material must first be established before its production will be undertaken. The same remark is true of wool, and it is a very simple and self-evident proposition, though a great many people are really so dull (if indeed it be not merely a pretence), as to profess not to understand the metter.

The profits in the jobbing and retail dry goods trade are much larger on imported high cost goods than on any other article, and this is good encouragement for entering into the manufacture of these goods at home. In embarking in this business, however, one precaution is all important. For all fancy and high cost articles to secure a profit, the market not must be too freely supplied. It is the limited quantity of certain styles and descriptions of foreign goods which make the profits, and not the suto understand the matter. eign goods which make the profits, and not the su-periority of the article either in beauty or durabil-ity. This is a fact which domestic manufacturers ity. This is a fact which domestic manufacturers of other and cheaper goods would do well to bear in mind, and avoid overloading the market with any particular style. If profit is desirable, the style of goods must not be made too common in the market, but the quantity must be limited, so that it is made a rarity and luxury for which wealth and fashion are always ready to any a round profit

Attention to this is absolutely necessary in high cost goods like silks, fine woolens, and dress goods.

OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORIES .- More OREGON AND WASHINGTON FERRITORIES.—More Indian Demonstrations—Gold Dust—Politics.—The Humboldt Times says that Wild Cat, a Cayuse chief, had made demonstrations against the white settlements in that vicinity, threatening that whatever they sowed they would not live to reap. Colonel Wright, to secure Wild Cat and prevent a further spread of disaffection among the Indians, sent Lieut. Switzer, with a party of United States dragoons, to arrest him, when Wild Cat gathered together an Indian band and made fight, in which three dragoons were killed, and some twenty Indians also. The Indians captured from four to six government wagons containing supplies for the United States troops, while in transit from the mouth of Walla Walla river to Fort Walla Walla, and killed eight or ten men who were employed as teamsters, &c., in transporting these supplies. Lieut. Switzer and party, it is further rumored, were obliged to retreat to Walla Walla. The above is an Indian report. Colonel Wright had despatched Pearson, the famous exressman, to ascertain the real truth of this matter, but up to latest dates Mr. Pearson had not returned

UTAH.—The Sacramento Union has received dates from Salt Lake to the 26th of April, twenty-four days later than last advices.

The dissentions among the Mormons had come to an issue. Three hundred of those who had become disgusted with the rule of Brigham Young, who go there by the appellation of "Apostates," had left for the Atlantic States. Two of the Apostates had also arrived in Carson Valley, having run away from Salt Lake on the 6th of April, and swam Bear river, near by to make good their escape. They tell some hard stories about the condition of the Saints. According to their accounts there are six thousand cording to their accounts there are six thousand Apostates at Great Salt Lake, who are in constant fear of a band of bravados employed by Brigham Young, known as the "Destroying Angels." They say that dead bodies are constantly found about that place, and while the Mormons attribute their murder to Indians, the Apostates believe they are murdered by the "Destroying Angels." They also represent that the leading Mormons preach openly against permitting any women or children to leave there.

Kempton's party was accompanied the first day as far out as Bear river by President Brigham Young. On the 26th of April he left them for the North, intending to go by Fort Hall to Salmon river, in Oregon territory. His object was to look out for a new station in that country. Whether he was preparing to remove there himself or not was not known.

DEATH OF HON. LANGDON CHEVES .- This vener able statesman, who has left a prominent mark in the past history of the republic, died in Columbia, South Carolina, on Tuesday night last. Mr. Cheves was born in September, 1776, in the Abbeville district of born in September, 17.76, in the Abbeville district of that State, and was consequently in the 81st year of his age. In 1811 he was elected to Congress, and during his term gave the casting vote in the negative, as Speaker of the House, on the question of rechartering the old United States Bank. Upon his return to his own State, he was elected Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, but subsequently became Court of Common Pleas, but subsequently became President of the United States Bank, in which position it is agreed he exhibited judgment and fiscal ability. He was a man of acute intellect, unbending will, and was ever enlogized by his friends as of strict integrity. His life constituted an inportant link between the past and present in his own State, and his death will be read with sorrow wherever he was known. was known.

A Mother's Counsel.—Forty years ago a mother stood on the green hills of Vermont, holding by the right hand a son sixteen years old, mad with love of the sea. And as she stood by the garden gate on a sunny morning, she said: "Edwin, they tell me—for I'never saw the ocean—that the great temptation of the seaman's life is drink. Promise me, before you quit your mother's hand, that you will never drink." I gave her the promise, and I went the broad globe over—Calcutta, the Mediterranean, San Francisco, the Cape of Good Hope, the North Pole and the South—I saw them all in forty years, and I never saw a glass filled with sparkling liquor that my mother's form by the garden gate on the green hill side of Vermont did not rise before me, and to-day, at sixty, my lips are innocent of the taste of liquor. sixty, my lips are innocent of the taste of liquor.

The Grape Crop.—We regret to learn that the "rot" has injured the grapes in many of the vine-yards around Cincinnati. In some vineyards at least one-half of the grapes are destroyed. If, however, the weather should be favorable, and the injury extend no further, the crop will still be good. The vineyards, this spring, have been weighed down with a superabundant crop, so much so that if half of the grapes are thinned away by the "rot" a fine crop would still be realized.—Cincinnati Times.

I would respectfully invite the attention of merchants and others visiting the city to my large and elegant assortment of TRUNKS, which I am prepared to offer at least twenty-five fer cent. Lower than any other establishment in the city. My stock embraces a greater variety of Trunks than is kept by any other house in the Western country. Many of the styles are entirely new and cannot fail to please those in want of a Trunk both as regards price and quality. The many advantages which I possess over the other houses in the city, such as manufacturing my own boxes, finishing my own leather, importing my own material, &c., enable me to offer my trunks at much lower prices than any other establishment either in this city or Cincinnati, Merchanis and others will be consulting their own interests by giving me a call before making their purchases. [For the Louisville Journal.] ROBERT BONNER.

"Who has not heard of our EDITOR?" saith a reader of the New York Ledger.

Tell me the man, woman, or child, in all our en-lightened land, that does not know and honor his

From the East to the West, from the North to the From the East to the west, from the North to the South, in England's peeriess city by the Thames, in France's royal metropolis of pampered pride and luxury and sin, wherever the fame of American literature has gone, his fame has gone with it, shining, the bright and morning star in the broad heaven ing, the bright and morning star in the broad heaven of Republican enterprise and universal Yankee in-dependence. In the purple valleys of the Rhine river the blue-eyed vintner hath, wondering, heard it. Across the everlasting barriers of Norway's snows and pines, under the gorgeous flashing of the Finn's eternal sunrise, his name hath passed with a beauty and a power! And the weary delver of Australia's and a power! And the weary delver of Australia's geiden sands keeps his heart green with a sweet memory of home gleaned from the columns of the "Ledger," the "very latest arrival"—a month old, perhaps, but none the less cherished for all that. And the dauntless pilgrim to the shrines of the old world, toiling amid the dust of the dead Cheops, or fainting in the silver shadow of an Oriental palm, turns from the mouldy records of lost ages to drink life and inspiration from a perennial spring—some worn and defaced copy of the "New York Ledger" that crossed the seas to him, cherished as a dear memento of some loved one in the homeland.

Over all the proud expanse of our own glorious

Over all the proud expanse of our own glorious continent from the blue waters of the Pacific to the thundering seaboard of the Atlantic the name of "Bonner" is familiar as a household word. On men speak it reverently as the Napoleon of editorial names. Old women read with misty eyes the sweet songs of Alice Carey that ripple down the columns of the New York Ledger as the silver brooks rippled down the meadows far back in the

The summers of long ago."

Lonely spirits, dwelling apart in cloud-haunted palaces of the ideal, quaff from golden cups the weird inspiration that flows from the heart and brain of pale-browed Sallie M. Bryan!

Young men hear the name of "Bonner" and feel

Young men hear the name of "Bonner" and feel their blood turn for the battle of life, and their sinews harden for action and victory: with them it is but another and brighter name for enterprise and success! Young maidens hide their blushing cheeks and flashing eyes in the seclusion of their own closets, and talk fearlessly with him upon their hearts' holiest topics. Little children laugh and clap their dimpled hands when they catch a glimpse of the pretty pictures that adorn his weekly columns. To them the "Ledger" is an endless bird-song, an everlasting hint of summer and roses, a perpetual smile that will never darken or fade as little Mary's, or Effic's, or Willie's did under the solemn coffin-lid such a weary April ago!

Effie's, or Willie's the under the solehin comments such a weary April ago!

Excelsior! is the watchword of Bonner. Climbing the rugged Alps of public opinion and fearless enterprise, he has trailed such a glory on his path that all the lesser editors in the world stand dazzled and agape. In some instances he has been abused and villified by his "brethren of the press." Oftener and villified by his "brethren of the press." Oftener he has met the warm right hand of fellowship, but to his own unfaltering energy he owes his peerless success. Relying upon his own daring helm's craft, he has safely guided his publication over dangerous deeps, where others would have sunken and been swallowed up forever. And now he has reached the eternal heights of fame that bound the mighty sea of human enterprise. He is still climbing higher, higher, and when er, higher, and whenthe nations may take up the shout and press on and upward in the shining path his unconquerable daring and steadfast fortune hath won for him.

"From the skies serene and far, His voice falls like a falling star,"
